

Enlighted Honored by AT&T With the 2014 Supplier Sustainability Award

SUNNYVALE, CA--(Marketwired - Mar 17, 2015) - A commitment to minimize its environmental impact over the past year has earned Enlighted Inc. recognition as a 2014 AT&T Supplier Sustainability Award winner. The award honors suppliers for their support of AT&T*, one of the world's leading service providers of advanced mobile services, next-generation TV and high-speed Internet services and smart solutions for businesses.

"We're thrilled to once again acknowledge suppliers that continue to put sustainability as a priority in the way they do business," said Susan A. Johnson, senior vice president, Global Supply Chain at AT&T. "Through sustainable operational and technological excellence, this year's recipients help make AT&T's sustainability programs possible."

Enlighted is one of only four suppliers to receive the 2014 AT&T Supplier Sustainability Supplier Award for outstanding contributions that supported AT&T's supplier sustainability efforts during the past year.

"AT&T understands that business-model innovation is as crucial as technological innovation for addressing the massive global energy problems we face," said Joe Costello, Enlighted's chairman and CEO. "It's a great honor to be recognized by AT&T for our team's commitment to the success of the program and for the significant energy-savings we're helping AT&T achieve across its many properties."
